NATIONAL BESTSELLER • A stunning “portrait of the enduring grace of friendship” (NPR) about the families we are born into, and those that we make for ourselves. A masterful depiction of love in the twenty-first century. A NATIONAL BOOK AWARD FINALIST • A MAN BOOKER PRIZE FINALIST • WINNER OF THE KIRKUS PRIZE A Little Life follows four college classmates—broke, adrift, and buoyed only by their friendship and ambition—as they move to New York in search of fame and fortune. While their relationships, which are tinged by addiction, success, and pride, deepen over the decades, the men are held together by their devotion to the brilliant, enigmatic Jude, a man scarred by an unspeakable childhood trauma. A hymn to brotherly bonds and a masterful depiction of love in the twenty-first century, Hanya Yanagihara’s stunning novel is about the families we are born into, and those that we make for ourselves. Look for Hanya Yanagihara’s new novel, To Paradise, coming in January 2022. In 1967, after a session with a psychiatrist she'd never seen before, eighteen-year-old Susanna Kaysen was put in a taxi and sent to McLean Hospital. She spent most of the next two years in the ward for teenage girls in a psychiatric hospital as renowned for its famous clientele—Sylvia Plath, Robert Lowell, James Taylor, and Ray Charles—as for its progressive methods of treating those who could afford its sanctuary. Kaysen's memoir encompasses horror and razor-edged perception while providing vivid portraits of her fellow patients and their keepers. It is a brilliant evocation of a "parallel universe" set within the kaleidoscopically shifting landscape of the late sixties. Girl, Interrupted is a clear-sighted, unflinching document that gives lasting and specific dimension to our definitions of sane and insane, mental illness and recovery.

Citizenship is generally viewed as the most desired legal status an individual can attain, invoking the belief that citizens hold full inclusion in a society, and can exercise and be protected by the Constitution. Yet this membership has historically been exclusive and illusive for many, and in Citizenship and its Exclusions, Ediberto Roman provides a sweeping, interdisciplinary analysis of citizenship's contradictions. Roman offers an exploration of citizenship that spans from antiquity to the present, and crosses disciplines from history to political philosophy to law, including constitutional and critical race theories. Beginning with Greek and Roman writings on citizenship, he moves on to late-medieval and Renaissance Europe, then early Modern Western law. His analysis culminates with an explanation of how past precedents have influenced U.S. law and policy regulating the citizenship status of indigenous and territorial island people, as well as how different levels of membership have created a de facto subordinate citizenship status for many members of American society, often lumped together as the "underclass." "What kind of harms matter, and why? Steeped in the history of American tort law, Martha Chamallas and Jennifer B. Wriggins demonstrate how attitudes about race and gender run through the harms recognized---and not recognized---by American law. Along the way, this fine book sheds light on deliberate and unconscious stereotyping, the shifting treatments of workplace and family injuries, the influence of social movements on law and public attitudes, and alternative approaches to harms, causation, and damages. This book is brimming with insights about how societies do and should express what matters in assigning liability for human pain and loss." "This book asks important questions about the tort system. Tort law is largely taught and described from a doctrinal perspective that makes no attempt to see how it is actually working on the ground. This book assesses how the tort system fares in operation by examining how race and gender influence court decisions in torts cases. A promising direction for scholarship on the tort system."

show you how. If you've been in an accident and you're uninformed, you have little or no concept of the ultimate value of your possible recovery. Because of this, you're less able to make appropriate demands. As the claims negotiation process moves towards a close, you're settlement demands are very often too low or too high. You're ignorant of the accepted principles, which justify your demands. When you attempt to negotiate a settlement with these handicaps, you run a strong chance of being victimized. The amount of compensation you should be paid isn't found in a crystal ball. Rather, a number of simple factors such as the type of accident, related injuries, out-of-pocket expenses, medical costs and lost wages all go into determining how much a claim is worth. What amount an insurance company is willing to pay actually falls into a fairly narrow spectrum. To read this book is to become informed on bodily injury claim settlement facts and details. You'll discover how to implement BASE so you can determine the monetary value of the "pain and suffering" you've endured because of your injury. You'll know what to ask for and how to negotiate it. You'll learn how to supply the adjuster with all the documentation and proof needed to establish your claim. You'll gain the knowledge needed to accomplish this when you read Auto Accident Personal Injury Insurance Claim. And you'll walk away from the negotiation table with a smile on your face.

Attorney Robert Edens tells you step by step how to deal with insurance companies after an injury. In his book, The Rule of 5's, he alerts you to the many myths and misconceptions, as well as the tricks and traps you need to be aware of while going through the claims process. Insurance companies make money by collecting premiums and paying as little as they can on claims. Unfortunately, that is the reality of the situation. Therefore, it is imperative that you understand the things that are going on behind the scenes, as soon as you notify the insurance company of your injury. When a person has suffered an accident an automatic physiological reaction takes place within the body in response to the trauma. Your body instinctively knows that the most important thing at that moment is your safety and focuses all of its resources toward the matter at hand. This is the reason why a person may not be able to think clearly afterward. On the other hand, the insurance adjuster has been specifically trained to ask very specific questions about your accident and injuries. These questions can damage your claim at a later date. They are very pleasant and seem to be genuinely concerned for your wellbeing and your need for money to pay your medical bills and so on. In reality, their main objective is to get you to make a statement, sign documents, and settle your claim for as little as possible, as soon as possible. All this before you have the necessary information to make the correct decisions. After 20 years of experience as a personal injury attorney, I have seen time and time again, the unscrupulous tricks and tactics that the adjusters use. In addition, I have witnessed the many mistakes and erroneous misconceptions made by personal injury victims. Based on my experiences, I have developed five categories, each with five sub-categories that, if not known, can sabotage your personal injury case. I call them the Rule of 5's. I know that there are five major tactics that arise in every case and while the particulars for each client vary greatly, the insurance companies are only concerned with paying you as little as possible for your injuries. I wrote this book so you clearly understand the "rules". Below is the table of contents highlighting the details contained in the book.

Your liability policy limits are $100,000 per person, per incident, not to exceed $300,000 if multiple parties are injured in the collision. Q: Why didn't you hire a lawyer? A: I actually had two lawyers. After retaining my first lawyer, weeks passed without hearing from him about my case. I later learned that he was having personal problems, and had abandoned all his cases without notifying his clients. I severed ties with this attorney. I then retained an attorney who looked good on paper, but after signing a contract for legal representation, I received a letter from his firm informing me that my claim would be handled by another attorney, one who I had never heard of. After doing some research, I learned that my new attorney's license to practice law had been suspended for fraud in a personal injury case, and that he was on probation with the California State Bar. I immediately fired this attorney and was unable to retain another because of his work on my claim. _____ Thank you for your comments & questions.
